alcosuisse

A25[®] – standard quality dehydrated ethanol for a broad range of applications

A25[®] is a dehydrated ethanol which meets all the specifications of the European Pharmacopoeia (Ph. Eur.) and in addition has standardised, low organoleptic characteristics. Most of our dehydrated ethanol customers place their trust in this grade. The product is used in particular in the pharmaceutical and chemical industries, in standard cosmetic applications and in high-quality cleaning applications.

The raw product is selected via our worldwide alcosuisse network of qualified producers, and all incoming goods are individually subject to structured preparation and intensive quality assessment. For this, the following refinement steps are taken, which turn the raw product into A25[®] quality with its guaranteed product properties designed for the corresponding application requirements:

- 5µ filtration of all incoming goods and levelling of ethanol content with treated water
- Organoleptic testing and classification by two independent, organoleptic panels
- Detailed analytical examination and approval by the laboratory alcohol of the federal institute of metrology METAS

A25[®] is available in many variations

■ Wide selection of raw materials

A25[®] is available made from agricultural raw materials (in particular sugar beet or sugar cane) or synthetically

■ Broad range of denaturation forms

Standard selection of 15 different forms of denaturation

■ Additional quality labels

A25[®] is available with a kosher or a kosher for Passover certificate
