

CH1® – Premium Swissmade Ethanol

CH1® - Swiss ethanol produced in Switzerland using Swiss raw materials: effective immediately, manufacturers of ethanol-based products can access explicitly Swiss ethanol for the production of high-quality products. All ethanol was previously imported from the EU area, and frequently from places like Brazil, Pakistan and the United States.

High-quality sugar beet molasses harvested in Switzerland which is locally fermented and traditionally distilled using the purest Swiss water is used as the starting material for CH1®. The new alcosuisse flagship product CH1® combines the extensive experience and rich tradition of alcosuisse with first-class Swiss raw materials and Swiss craft activities. The product stands out for its high purity level, totally neutral smell and distinctive smooth taste.

CH1® is an exclusive product which will be produced only in small quantities for the time being for a select group of customers. Contact alcosuisse if we have aroused your interest. We will happily advise you and show you how you can integrate added value with CH1® to your Swiss products.
